DEVILS DORP

The most sensational crime syndicate/cult South Africa has ever seen. The 'Over-comers through Christ' killed 11 people, all on behalf of 'puppet master' Cecilia Steyn.

On the outskirts of Johannesburg, among the mine dumps of a once-promising gold rush, eleven brutal murders take place in two separate killing sprees, four years apart.

The investigation takes police into the darkest corners of this conservative town, where they discover a fringe religious community, and even darker still, a murderous cult.

MAKING AN EXONEREE

This reality documentary series follows the emotional journey of 16 diverse undergraduate Georgetown University students as they morph into social justice warriors. Over the course of the semester, these students re-investigate five potential wrongful conviction cases with the goal of obtaining the Holy Grail - getting someone out of prison.

From the first day of class, led by a former exoneree, the students are in the field digging for new evidence, new witnesses and hunting the real killers. These kids are battling the system, questioning law enforcement, prosecutors and District Attorneys. Their investigations shine a blinding light on the deep roots of corruption in the US judicial system.

This isn't just a class, this is about people's lives and the clock is ticking... the inmates have exhausted all of their legal resources and the students are their last hope at freedom.

Will these students be able to find the evidence they need to set someone free?

JOURNEY WITH MY DAUGHTER - PRUE LEITH

Prue Leith has been a household name since the 70s. And for many she is the quintessential English woman. Yet, 45 years ago she made, what was for the time, the radical decision to adopt a Cambodian baby, Li-Da.

Prue gave Li-Da an idyllic English upbringing at her Cotswolds home and, by her own admission, rarely questioned whether she could have helped Li-Da connect more with her Cambodian roots. Now in this intimate and revealing film Prue and Li-Da travel to Cambodia to search for her biological family. Social media and DNA testing are allowing thousands of children who, like Li-Da, were evacuated just before Pol Pot's genocide, to reconnect with lost relatives.

For Prue, as she approaches 80, there may not be many more chances to make this journey. And for Li-Da this is her chance to help Prue understand why it's so important to explore her heritage.

What neither of them can predict is how they will react should they find what they are looking for.

ROUGH DRAFT WITH REZA ASLAN

Writer, Producer, and unflinching provocateur Reza Aslan has never been afraid to dig deep into the topics that matter. Rough Draft with Reza Aslan allows him to do just that - facilitate conversation with some of today's most celebrated contemporary writers.

From novelists to screenwriters to musicians, Reza is peeking beneath the veil for an in-depth look at their creative processes. As a best-selling author himself, Reza believes a writer's work is never really finished, and wants to further explore the writer's journey from a variety of perspectives. The 8-part series adheres to a simple setup: two chairs, cocktails, an engaged live audience, and a no-holds-barred discussion about the art of storytelling.

TALK SHOW

WHAT'S YOUR AILMENT WITH MARIA BAMFORD

Few comedians embody the phrase "comedy is tragedy plus time" more than Maria Bamford. Using her platform to explore the realities of depression and anxiety, Maria is making mental health awareness more approachable than ever before.

Whats Your Ailment?! follows Maria as she speaks candidly with fellow comedians and artists about their experiences with mental health, past or present. With guests ranging from Tig Notaro to Tom Arnold, no topic is off limits in this sit-down series. Maria wants to remove the stigma that comes with mental health, reshaping the conversation using relatable stories, compassion, and her trademark sense of humor.

Guests include: Rachel Bloom, Tom Arnold, Jen Kirkman, Baron Vaughn, Tig Notaro, Elyn Saks, Andy Kindler, Aparna Nancharla, Steven Sultanoff, Jim Norton.

MOM VS MATCHMAKER

Mom vs Matchmaker sees celebrity matchmaker Carmelia Ray face off against a fierce and fiery mom in each episode, in a bid to see who can find the best date for the mom's son or daughter.

Highly competitive, the cupids make their choices from a pool of contenders and then put their candidates through a 'woo camp', training them on all the essentials to help romance to blossom - everything from wardrobe, to physical contact, culture and manners.

The offspring then takes the matchmaker's and their mom's contenders on sizzling dates and reveals at the end which one most got sparks flying.

SLAKEMAN

This is high-energy show, follows Snakeman Nick Evans as “freaked-out” folk discover snakes in their homes or gardens, and as always at ease Evans goes about his life’s passion in the rescue and conservation of snakes.

While often in precarious situations, it’s “all in a day’s work” for Evans, with great entertainment for the viewer as he provides fascinating insights, (and yes, with the occasional jump-scare) into the important role that snakes play in the eco-system.

STILL STOKED

Unlike most skateboarders of his generation, UK skate legend Sean Goff is refusing to give up. Now well into his fifties, his skills may have diminished, but his love for adrenalin hasn't. After skating as a pro in the '80s, he kept on competing, sticking two fingers up at the ageing process. Now, he's been told that another injury could permanently disable him. Sean's response? He enters Vert Attack - a dangerous aerial contest on a terrifying 12ft high ramp. Not being able to skate is scarier than not being able to walk.

This feature length film with exclusive and unrestricted access to Sean, his family, friends, skateboarding legend Tony Hawk and unseen 8mm archive is the story of one man's determination to keep doing what makes him happy, even if it means risking everything. It's a meditation on getting old and 'raging against the dying of the light' through the lens of the skateboarding explosion of the '70s and '80s.

GOMORA

For many South Africans, it's easy to imagine a setting where two different worlds exist side by side, and it is almost normal for one family to live lavishly while the other is barely able to make ends meet.

What is a bit more challenging to imagine however, is when an unfortunate series of events causes both families to collide in the most thrilling way - revealing a complex story of romance, social inequalities and prejudices. This is the very premise of Mzansi Magic's fascinating new telenovela, Gomora.

For those in the know, Gomora is also the nickname of the famous and beloved Johannesburg Kasi, Alexandra. The hustle and bustle of the township and its colourful flavour is the vibrant home of the series, which explores the disparity between lower and upper-class members of our country, with the contrast between the two worlds brought to life through one of the most innovative filming styles.

LEGACY

A witches' brew of betrayal, secrets, lies, and revenge.

With startling storylines set in the fast-lane world of investment billionaires and a sterling, diverse cast, this new daily is destined to become the talk of the town.

Legacy's locus of conflict is an upmarket investment empire that was established decades ago by Sebastian Price, the patriarch of the super-wealthy Price family. Now he is a silver fox approaching retirement and it is clear that a family member will soon have to take over the reins. But who will it be? And, at what cost?

Sebastian's bitter ex-wife and ruthless first-born daughter will do whatever it takes to ensure that Sebastian's second wife, Dineo, does not push her playboy son into the position of CEO. Of course the power struggle turns nasty.

Legacy, a dazzling local telenovela with a stellar ensemble cast: Kgomotso Christopher, Michelle Botes, Mary-anne Barlow, Anton David Jeftha and Deon Lotz embody a family at war with itself.

POPPIE NONGENA

The love for her family had no boundaries.

Poppie Nongena is a multi-generational legacy piece based on the multi-award winning novel by South African author Elsa Joubert and tells the personal, true life story of a mother's struggles, love and hope during Apartheid when inhumane government regulations separated husbands, wives and children.

The main focus of the film is not Apartheid, Colonialism, Capitalism or oppression. It is a character study told from the personal viewpoint and daily life of a black South African woman. It is the story of a mother who desperately tries to protect her children and her family.

Hidden stories.

From presidents to drug barons, everyone has an underground hideout, and this series reveals them all. In White Sulphur Springs, southern West Virginia, within the grounds of the USA's most luxurious resort lies one of the greatest vestiges of the Cold War. Buried 720 feet into the hillside, this subterranean bunker, code-named 'Project Greek Island' was commissioned by President Dwight D. Eisenhower to house the entire government in the event of nuclear attack.

But how was it built? What's down there? How was it maintained in complete secrecy for over 30 years? And how was its cover finally blown?

RICKY MARTIN: LIFE OF A LEGEND

The story of the man who brought Latin music to the whole world.

The singer, songwriter, actor, author, record producer, humanitarian, husband, father and gay icon has been part of our lives since he exploded onto the global stage with "Livin' La Vida Loca" in 1999.

But, before his worldwide fame there was seven years in boyband 'Menudo', acting in Mexican and American TV shows as well as solo fame in Mexico, Puerto Rico, Argentina and USA. It wasn't until his first English album in 1999 that his (and our) worlds changed forever!

200 awards, 70 million records sold, a best selling autobiography, a Las Vegas residency and collaborations with the likes of Madonna, Christina Aguilera and Janet Jackson to name but a few.

In 2010, after a three-year career break, Ricky Martin came out as gay. He also told Oprah he was in a gay relationship.

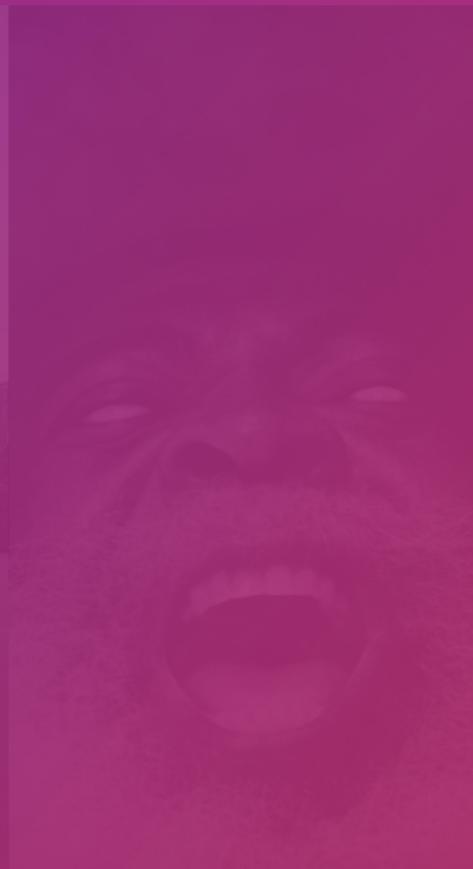

In 2016 he, and Jwan Yosef - a Swedish-Syrian painter - announced their engagement on The Ellen DeGeneres Show.

They married in 2018 and have four children together. The Ricky Martin Foundation continues to support children around the world - most recently through Covid-19 - and Ricky is personally involved.

TRUE COLOURS

In the emotional and entertaining reality show True Colours, twelve people with different disabilities get the chance of a lifetime - to attend an art school led by one of Sweden's most renowned painters, Lars Lerin.

All the students have autism or Down Syndrome. They spend two life-changing months together, and try their hands at everything from painting and sculpting to photography and graphic design.

Produced with a documentary-style storytelling, True Colours is as inclusive and warm as shows like The Choir and School for Stammerers.

Not only do the students grow creatively, but also as human beings. They share touching stories about living with disabilities - and find a new sense of self-worth, joy and hope through the art school, under the ever compassionate leadership of their teacher.

Polar opposite talents, polar opposite people and polar opposite worlds, but all with one thing in common; the love of music. With talent, just like people, coming in all forms, shapes and sizes, we see what happens when we mix the vast and the varied. How often does the third time winning under-21 UK pianist ever come across the 17-year-old backstreet beat-boxer on their way to their weekly recital?

When will you see one of the many notorious rap-duos from the back streets of Brixton share a music stand with a solo a capella artist? Are there ever gig-tickets that let you enter a barber shop quartet concert supported by a rock band?

VIRAL VERSIONS

Our host not only meets and greets the top music artists around, but confronts them with some of their biggest covers gone viral...

Each week our presenter sits on the couch and grills, jokes and chats with their guest(s) on everything past, present and whats to come.

They are some of the UK's biggest stars, but also our host's best friends, so there are no boundaries, no formalities, just fun.

But it's not all bragging and banter, as our host ambushes the chat with hugely trending viral clips. But these aren't any old clips.

They have scoured the internet to find their guests' biggest fans who have covered, in whole range of ways, their hits. Some are rather good, in fact so good our guest gets a tad nervous... others are unique, bizarre and unthinkably creative.
